SUBJECT: (C) SUNNI POLITICAL BLOC (TAWAFUQ) SEEKS EMBASSY
MEDIATION IN TALKS WITH PRIME MINISTER

Classified By: Political Counselor Matt Tueller for reasons 1.4 (b) & (d)

¶1. (S) On March 8, a senior member of the Iraqi Islamic Party and Tawafuq Bloc, Parliament Member Dr. Alaa al-Mekki, presented poloff with a letter clarifying the bloc's demands in ongoing but stalled negotiations with the Prime Minister's office. In the letter's cover note, Mekki requests Embassy assistance to "help push the negotiations" toward successful conclusion. The text of the letter is at paragraph three.

¶2. (S) Comment. This is the first time the Tawafuq Bloc has chosen to share with us in writing its negotiating demands for a return to the Maliki government, despite numerous requests, and the first written request for USG mediation (a step we assess as inappropriate at this time). We agree with the Bloc's focus on improving the workings of the Executive Council and sharing decision-making on key issues among key leaders. That said, at first glance, the Tawafuq Bloc's demands have continued to shift over time, incorporating an ever-widening set of complicated issues such as the situation in Diyala province, the arrest of Adnan Dulaymi's security detail, and the induction into state security services of Concerned Local Citizens. These demands appear to us as overreach by Tawafuq, a weakened group whose track-record of accomplishments when earlier part of the government is thin. Such expansive demands may explain to some degree the frustration we hear expressed by PMO contacts, who claim that Tawafuq is concerned only with "powers and authorities," rather than shared responsibility for governance. For certain, such complaints from the PMO are self-serving, but not without some merit. In this light, the Embassy will press each side to continue negotiating in order to reach an acceptable middle ground that addresses shared responsibilities, including in the security realm. End comment.

¶3. (SBU) Text of Tawafuq Letter to Embassy:
